

Human Resource Specialist

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 09 June 2010 22:34 -

---

Human Resource Specialist

Human Resource Specialists provide advice to Heads of Department and individual employees based on the requirements of employment law and of the Company's policies and procedures.

What Do Human Resource Specialists Do?

- Provide expertise on resource issues, selection methods and HR planning to respond to sites needs
- Assist in the administration of the Company Employee Family Assistance Program (EFAP) program by interviewing employees and completing documentation required and follow-up
- Resource person in matters of discipline, suspension and follow-up of probationary employees
- Conduct selection interviews, acting as the point of contact to external candidates and co-ordinating the recruitment process
- Administer employee group benefit plans
- Provide orientation and consultation to employees
- Maintain the human resources records to ensure that they are current and accurate
- Collect, record, monitor and report on information regarding absence, sickness, holidays, etc.
- Assist with site tours for visitors, conduct briefings

Where do Human Resource Specialists work?

search ID: form1010

Notwithstanding that municipal governments, including the City of Vancouver, are not subject to the Freedom of Information Act, the information contained herein is confidential and its disclosure to the public is prohibited. The information is for the use of the public only and is not to be used for any other purpose.